NOTES

Appropriate Period

Appropriate period means the period to be covered when giving particulars of declarable interests. For a first declaration appropriate period means the period of 12 months leading up to and including the day the annual declaration form is signed by you. In relation to subsequent declarations it is the period between the date of your previous declaration and the date of the next declaration.

Non Declaration of Amount(s)

The amount or monetary value of any declarable interest need not be specified. (Section 171(5)) of the Act).

Land

ⁱ "land" includes all property including buildings, dwellings, etc.. All land interests in the State should be declared.

Company

ⁱⁱ Where any body which is a company within the meaning of section 155 of the Companies Act, 1963 is deemed under that section to be a subsidiary of another or to be another such company's holding company, a person who is a member of the first-mentioned such company is deemed also to be a member of the other company for the purposes of annual declaration. (Section 166(3) of the Act).

Non-declaration of certain land interests ⁱⁱⁱ An interest in land or an interest relating to land or any business of dealing in or developing land does not have to be declared where such interest is by reason only of the beneficial ownership of shares in a company or other body by you or by your nominee and the total nominal value of those shares does not exceed the lesser of €12,697.38, or 1/100th part of the total nominal value of either the issued share capital of the company or body or, where that capital is issued in shares of more than one class, the issued share capital of the class or classes of shares in which you have an interest. Section 167(3) of Act refers.

Declarable Interest no. 4

^{iv} See note iii above.

Holding (shares etc.)

^v "holding" does not include money in a current, deposit or other similar account with a financial institution (see declarable interest no. 5).

Shadow Directorship

^{vi} "shadow directorship" means the position held by a person who is a shadow director for the purposes of the Companies Acts, 1963 to 1999. (see declarable interest no. 6).

Declarable Interest no. 7

^{vii} Insofar as services at (2) of declarable interest no. 7 relate to legal or medical services, it is only necessary to state that such services were supplied.

1. The first step in the process of the development of a new product is the identification of a market need. This is often done through market research, which can be conducted in a variety of ways, including surveys, focus groups, and interviews with potential customers. The goal of market research is to gather information about the needs and preferences of the target market, as well as to identify any existing products that may be competing for the same market.

The goal of market research is to gather information about the needs and preferences of the target market, as well as to identify any existing products that may be competing for the same market.	2. The second step in the process of the development of a new product is the design of the product. This involves creating a detailed plan for the product, including its features, functions, and appearance. The design process often involves the use of computer-aided design (CAD) software, which allows designers to create 3D models of the product and to test different design options before finalizing the design.
3. The third step in the process of the development of a new product is the prototyping of the product. This involves creating a physical model of the product, which can be used to test the design and to make any necessary adjustments. Prototyping can be done in a variety of ways, including 3D printing, CNC machining, and hand prototyping. The goal of prototyping is to create a realistic representation of the product that can be used to evaluate its feasibility and to make any necessary adjustments before moving forward with production.	4. The fourth step in the process of the development of a new product is the production of the product. This involves manufacturing the product in large quantities, which can be done in a variety of ways, including injection molding, CNC machining, and hand production. The goal of production is to create a large number of identical products that can be distributed to the market.
