TRAFFIC UPDATES

Swords is going places...

Fingal County Council began works to upgrade the R132 in early 2026, changing it from the old Dublin - Belfast dual carriageway to a lower speed, urban street that connects the east and west sides of Swords.

The next phase of these works will see the Seatown Road Roundabout changed to a new traffic light controlled junction, and this will affect some journeys that were previously taken from your area.

If you want to travel north on the R132 from the Old Seatown Road:

- You can no longer join the R132 southbound from the Old Seatown Road and take a U-Turn to travel north on the R132
- Instead, travel east along the Old Seatown Road, turning left on Estuary Road and following it until the T- junction
- From here, you can turn left onto Spittal Hill and continue westbound past Fingallians GAA Club to join the R132 to travel north at the new Estuary traffic light controlled junction

If you want to travel south on the R132 from the Old Seatown Road:

- You can no longer join the R132 southbound from the Old Seatown Road
- Instead, begin your journey east along the Old Seatown Road, turning right on Estuary Road and following it to the IDA Roundabout
- Here, you can take the second exit and continue westbound on Seatown Road onto the R132 and continue your journey south as usual

Works on the R132 will continue in 2027. These works will help prepare Swords for Metrolink and make it safer and easier for people to walk, wheel, cycle, and take public transport in the area.
